

Colorado College on the Colorado!

June 5-18, 2009

For some, a trip through Grand Canyon on the Colorado River means fun. For others it means adventure. For many, it's the dream of a lifetime. Most are forever changed.

What's so special about Grand Canyon? Rapids. Extensive hikes in spectacular side canyons. Waterfalls. The earth's geologic history opening like a book. The change of pace – moving at the speed of the river and the day instead of the "rat race." Rafts powered by oars, not motors. Campside conversation, no email or cell phones!

All of this – and more.

To be joined in your journey by friends makes it all the more special. This, the seventh Colorado College Grand Canyon trip will be "staffed" by Diane Brown Benninghoff '68, a veteran river runner and Professor Mark Smith who will help us all understand Western water issues. We'll float with Moki Mac Outfitters, one of the oldest and most respected (and some say, most colorful) companies in the Canyon. The Quist family took its first group down the Colorado in 1947 through Glen Canyon. In addition to the rafts, rowed by our guides, we hope to have both a dory and their "shredder," a small two person paddle craft that can be used on much of the river for those who want an extra level of participation.

Only 17 are permitted on the trip! An information sheet with cost and further details will be sent to all who inquire. Contact:

Diane Benninghoff '68
dbenninghoff@coloradocollege.edu
719-389-6777

or

Susan Brickell
sbrickell@coloradocollege.edu
719-389-6356

to reserve your spot today!

Trip cost: $4,075

Non-refundable Deposit: $1000/person due immediately