

THE DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS AND THE OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE PRESENT:

OUTSIDERS AND THE LIMITS OF FREEDOM IN ANCIENT ATHENS

An examination of how the Athenian legal system, while ensuring robust freedom for its citizens, severely restricted the scope that non-citizen residents had for independent action, such as in the well-documented case of the foreign sex-worker Neaira.

FRIDAY, MARCH 1ST 2:00PM

WES Room | Worner Basement
Light refreshments will be served
