

BLOCK 3-4

SOC SOURCE

HAPPY FALL

UPCOMING EVENTS

O'Connor Lecture: Memory and Poetry as Political Acts in Times of Crisis

The annual sociology O'Connor lecture exists to promote principles of scholarship, research, and volunteerism in the service for social justice. This year's speaker is Roberto Lovato, Salvadoran journalist, and educator, whose work focuses on issues of violence, terrorism, migration, and equity for Latinx persons. The lecture will happen on Thursday, December 2nd at 7 pm in Celeste Theater in Cornerstone. The entire CC community is welcome.

Holiday Potluck

The annual sociology holiday potluck is back! Please join SAB on December 9th at 6:30pm for an end-of-semester celebration! Location TBD. All sociology majors and those intending to declare this year are welcome. More information to come.

DEPARTMENT BOOK DRIVE

The sociology department wants your used books from class!

This year the SAB and the sociology department are hoping to create a sociology library. When students are done with their sociology blocks, they have the option to donate the books they used to the department library. In doing this, future students will not have to spend as much money on books, and books that might just end up on a bookshelf will get a new home. Books will begin being collected 4th block. Look out for an email with more information!

FEATURED COURSE

SO390: Community Based Research*

Pre-req SO228 & SO229

Take the chance to engage in community collaboration Block 5 with Dr. Rojo! In this course, students will dive into theories, epistemologies, and methods of community-academic collaborations (e.g., participatory-action research, indigenous methodologies, situated knowledges). At the same time, they will build collaborative partnerships with community groups in Colorado Springs, carry out an actual research project, and report research findings to the community. In the past students have worked with Inside Out Youth Services, the Justice for De'Von Bailey Editorial Board, and Food to Power.

Email Dr. Rojo at frojo@coloradocollege.edu with any questions

SAB AND THE DEPARTMENT RECOMMEND . . .

Maintenance Phase

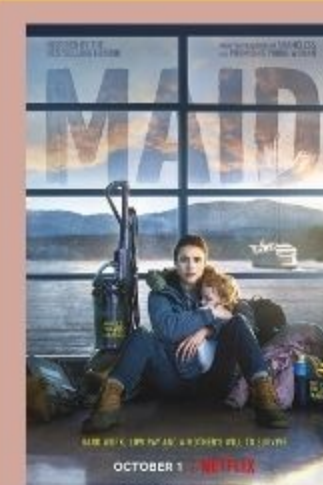

Wellness and weight loss, debunked & decoded

Podcast:

This podcast focuses on topics related to health, diet culture, pop culture, the wellness industry and so much more. It debunks health myths and critically analyzes their cultural meanings.

Podcast episode: Reply-All episode 181 "Absolutely Devious Lick"- This episode investigates a viral prank from tiktok plaguing the country and the implications of a social media trend.

TV Series: TW: intimate partner violence. Maid follows a single mother on her journey navigating homelessness and motherhood after leaving her abusive relationship.