In honor of Veterans Day, the Collaborative for Community Engagement is hosting a panel discussion featuring a group of women from a warrior transition battalion at Fort Carson. Thurs Nov 8 10-12 in Slocum Commons. Panelists will speak about their experiences in the military and in combat, about the challenges of navigating military systems, and about the ways in which gender plays out in military settings. There will be ample opportunity for reflection and for questions from the audience.