

Environmental Health and Safety (EH&S) is responsible for development, oversight, and management of environmental health and safety programs that protect the environment, provide safe and healthy conditions for work and study, and comply with applicable laws and regulations. EH&S provides fire & life safety support, educational programs and safety trainings, technical assistance and health and safety services to the university community. The office also functions as a consultant to the college community in all areas of environmental health and safety. The health and safety office makes health and safety investigations as necessary.