PROGRAM EXTENSION PROCEDURES FOR F-1 STUDENTS:
FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

MY CERTIFICATE OF ELIGIBILITY (FORM I-20) IS GOING TO EXPIRE AND I STILL HAVE CLASSES TO TAKE TOWARDS MY DEGREE? WHAT DO I DO?

F-1 students who need additional time to complete their degree requirements beyond the program end date indicated on their Certificate of Eligibility (Form I-20) need to apply to International Student & Scholar Services (ISSS) for an extension before the program end date on their current Form I-20.

AM I ELIGIBLE FOR A PROGRAM EXTENSION?

The reasons for a program extension must fall into one of the following categories: medical reasons (documentation required) or compelling academic reasons, such as: change of major or change of research topic.

WHEN SHOULD I APPLY?

Students must apply for a program extension before their current Certificate of Eligibility (Form I-20) expires. Please plan ahead. Complete all required paperwork and make an appointment to meet with ISSS at least 30 days before your current Form I-20 expires.

WHAT IF MY FORM I-20 HAS ALREADY EXPIRED?

Students who do not apply for a program extension in a timely manner are considered to be “out of status” and are advised to submit an application for reinstatement of F-1 student status to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) office. If your Form I-20 has already expired and you still need additional time to complete your degree, please schedule an appointment with ISSS immediately to discuss the reinstatement process.

HOW DO I APPLY FOR A PROGRAM EXTENSION?

Meet with your Academic Advisor/Department Chair. They must complete the “Academic Advisor’s Recommendation for Extension of Time” form (see next page). Submit the completed advisor’s recommendation form to ISSS. Submit financial documentation from your sponsor(s) to show sufficient funding for the remaining duration of your studies. Make an appointment with ISSS and bring your completed paperwork to submit your request for an updated Form I-20.
