Piece 5 Applications

Team or Business Name:
Piece 5 Applications

Team Members & all contact Information:
Dan Eppstein: daniel.eppstein@coloradocollege.edu
Josh Anderson: josh.anderson007@gmail.com

The Idea:
Piece 5 Applications is a company that creates educational games for tablets and smartphones. We use good gaming principles to enhance creativity, critical thinking, and problem solving. These games incorporate visual calculators (patent pending) that inspire the exploration of mathematical concepts without the need for words. These games immerse individuals into an intriguing world full of discovery.

Location where you plan to start your business?
Denver, CO

Initial obstacles preventing you from starting your business:
Currently we are in the developmental phase of our business. We have been working relentlessly to develop a prototype game that is both engaging and educational. We have reached out to different educators and schools and have gotten good feedback but still need a finished product to show. A beta product is expected to be available for testing in the coming months. Once we are happy with the state of our product, we want to patent, market and expand. Doing this takes money and we are looking to the Big Idea for help.