

Tutt Library Renovation Project Transition Plan

As of January 13, 2016

While we are still developing the full transition plan, we want to provide an update on the planning process, and invite your feedback as that plan is finalized.

All library and Learning Commons services will be available during the transition year.

Tutt South will remain open and will tentatively include:

- Circulation, research support, and student study space
- The Help Desk and CAT Lab

Colket Student Learning Center programs are tentatively slated to be relocated to the following buildings:

- Writing Center – Temporary modular building near Tutt Science Center
- Quantitative Reasoning Center/QRC – Gill House

Senior study carrels will be located in various places on campus, but most will be in Gates Common Room in Palmer Hall.

Student study spaces will be available in different sites including:

- Tutt South
- East Rastall
- Temporary modular buildings located northwest of the circular lawn by Tutt Science Center. These structures will include amenities such as restrooms, heating, air-conditioning, coffee, and snacks.

Books, journals, and other materials will be moved to the Creekside facility, a newly constructed building at 234 W. San Miguel. Materials will be made available as expeditiously as possible upon request. A limited amount of space will be available inside the facility for review of library materials.

We welcome your feedback on these plans. Please submit your comments, questions, and ideas on the 4x6 cards on the table.
