

Dear Campus Community,

Earlier this block, I met with Team Tutt, a working group that I have charged with serving as a responsive resource to the campus during the construction of our new library.

Throughout construction, this team will coordinate the logistics of the transition and renovation; hear feedback from students, faculty and staff; provide information to be shared with the campus community; and support campus morale.

Team Tutt has already begun its work. By Block 8, the team will review a plan for campus parking during construction, finalize the process for retrieving books, provide a list of study spaces and hours of operation, and share a timeline for this summer's construction activity.

Are you working on something related to the library project? Do you have ideas or questions? Please be in touch with Team Tutt, your point of contact during this transition period. You can submit ideas and questions directly to the team.

Meet Team Tutt:

Traci Freeman, Chair and Director of Colket Learning Center

Rick Greene, Facilities Services Senior Project Manager

Kate Holbrook, Chaplain

Chad Schonewill, Help Desk Team Lead

Sanjaya Thakur, Associate Professor of Classics

McKinley Sielaff, Government Documents Librarian

Marianne Aldrich, Circulation Team Coordinator

Jan Edwards, Director of Accessibility Resources

Stephanie Wurtz, Director of Internal Communications

Maggie Santos, Director of Campus Safety

John Simons, Professor of English

2016-17 CCSGA Executive Council Representative

Brittany Camacho '18

Heather Horton, Director of Wellness Resource Center

Weston Taylor, Instructional Technologist for Students

I am grateful to the members of Team Tutt for their work, and to everyone on campus for working together as a community during this period of transition. We can all look forward to the completion of the library renovation, when our efforts will be rewarded with a beautiful building that will serve as the intellectual hub for our entire campus community.

Best regards,

Jill
