

As we prepare for the heavy machinery to roll in next week, here are the latest updates of what to expect during library construction:

New Office Locations

- The Writing Center has moved to Gill House and will remain there until the Mod Pod opens (tentatively July 1), though the director will remain in Tutu Library South.
- The directors of the Colket and Crown Center, as well as the director of the FYE, the FYE peer mentor coordinator, and the ESL specialist and support staff, have moved to the second floor of Barnes Science Center.
- Some library staff have already moved to the newly renovated building north of Central Services at 801 N. Tejon Street.
- A detailed list will continue to be updated throughout the project as individuals and office move.

Library Transition Resources

- Paul Kuerbis, the college's ombuds, will play a proactive role and check in with staff and faculty across campus during the renovation and expansion of Tutt Library in addition to his college ombuds work.
- The campus map will continue to be updated as offices move and spaces are closed throughout the construction process.

Construction Timeline and Major Events

- May 17 – The library will be closed for browsing and all library materials must be checked out through the online request system. Then, requested materials can be retrieved from the Tutt Library circulation desk.
- May 17– Construction fencing will go up around Tutt Library and there will be heavy machinery (and associated noise) on Armstrong Quad.
 - Plan your routes: No pedestrian traffic will be allowed between Tutt Library and Palmer Hall. The east and south entrances to Palmer Hall will remain open.
 - The tunnel under Tutt Library will be closed to pedestrian traffic.
- June 1 – The main (north) Tutt Library building closes for construction for the duration of the project; Tutt South will remain open and provide most library services.
- June 1– Mod Pod will be delivered (scheduled opening July 1).

Parking

- During the summer, parking in any college lot is free and available without a permit. Parking in the Tutt Library C-1 lot, Nevada E-1 lot, and Armstrong C-2 lots will be limited.
- The college has submitted a parking plan for next year to the city and is awaiting the city's response.
- The campus parking permit application process will begin August 1, as a result of the pending nature of the parking plan. (If you are unable to apply in August, you may designate a proxy to apply on your behalf.)
- The campus will not lose more parking spaces than are needed to accommodate all of the requests typically received for parking permits.

- Team Tutt is exploring an option to incentivize parking for faculty, staff, and students who are willing to park in less popular lots.

Study Spaces

Summer Session 2016

- Tutt Library South and Worner Campus Center: normal hours of operation
- Students working on summer research projects may arrange for carrels in Gates Common Room and Tutt South, if needed. Make reservations at the circulation desk.

2016-17 Academic Year

- A number of transitional study spaces will be available to students throughout the renovation. These designated spaces will offer food or beverage service and will be staffed, and on a shuttle route.

A Fond Farewell

Thanks to all who helped bid farewell to the old Tutt Library at a celebration on the library's front porch May 6.
